

"IDEAL HORSE" STATION PROMISES BEST MORGANS

Points of conformation in the ideal type of driving horse that Uncle Sam is now trying to breed at the new government station in Weybridge, Vt.:

- Height—From 15 to 16 hands.
- Weight—About 1,200.
- Speed—A mile in 2:30 easily.
- Endurance—Fifteen miles per hour easily when a test is required.

The finest driving horse in the world—that is what Uncle Sam has started out to produce far up among the rugged peaks of the Green mountains at the new government breeding station in Weybridge, Vt.

And Vermonters who swear by the equine descendants of the great Justin Morgan are now everywhere deeply interested in the new experiments and as certain that the king of roadsters will be produced at this breeding farm as they are that the clean-jawed, broad-chested, tough little driving horse that years ago made the Green Mountain state famed for its royal breed of Morgans belongs to them by birthright.

Already the government experts are beginning to do great things at Weybridge. Horsemen in all parts of the country are keenly watching for the government bulletins which are soon to be issued by the agricultural board concerning the results there.

A Big Problem.

George M. Rommell of the bureau of animal industry and Frederick Hammond, the superintendent of the station, have a big task on their hands, but they believe they have the problem solved.

"The long searched for incomparable roadster is believed to be combined in the strain transmitted by the great Justin Morgan and his three sons, Bulrush, Woodbury and Sherman Morgan, to the $4,000 stallion General Gates and the present stock of thirty brood mares, with the dozen or more handsome little colts and fillies which now comprise the future hope of the ideal king-royal Morgan roadster."

The success of this most interesting attempt to give the world a perfect driving horse rests largely with the beautiful glossy black General Gates, been installed as the stallion breeder of the station.

General Gates has a large, roomy box stall, more spacious than those of the many brood mares in the barn, and he is carefully waited upon as the most valuable possession there.

Every Vermont who has seen this stallion, and there are but few horsemen in New England who have not, is still declaiming upon the great symmetry and beauty of the animal.

Sundried up, he is an equine ensemble of perfection.

To breed Morgan horses like him and, if it is possible, with his strain of beauty and endurance even more strongly emphasized, is the chief object of the present work at Weybridge.

The Stallion General Gates.

The real type which is now being sought is that of Justin Morgan, his sons and the strain which now appears in the stallion General Gates.

This horse is 14 years old, jet black, stands 15 hands high and weighs, when in good condition, about 1,500 pounds. He carries his chin lifted high with-out check, is broad and deep-chested, with shoulders slanting backward, rather short back, round body, cordy legs and hoofs of an oaken toughness. The stallion was got by the famous Denning Allen and was bred by Colonel Joseph Battell, Vermont's most famous Morgan horse breeder, who lives in Middlebury.

While the rugged, sturdy little Morgan of 100 years ago has to a great extent disappeared, with the infusion of the Hambletonian and Wilkes blood into the Morgan strain, the descendants of Justin Morgan have become like General Gates and his famous brother, Lord Clinton (2:08 3/4), the most prized horses in New England, and the points of the Morgan type can be easily recognized, though the Morgan blood is but a fraction of the original.

The project of Weybridge is to re-new the Morgan type, to so develop the acknowledged valuable points of this breed that finally a conformation may be obtained that will typify all the most excellent qualities of the breed.

Five of the government brood mares were also purchased from Colonel Battell shortly following the acceptance of this well known breeder's offer to deed the 400-acre farm in Weybridge to the government for the purpose of developing the Morgan horse.

Mr. Battell, who is the compiler of the Morgan register, as well as a newspaper publisher, author and stock breeder, has long stood as the foremost exponent of the Morgan horse, and it is due to his offer of a $10,000 estate for breeding purposes that Uncle Sam's experts are now on the way to developing the highest type of this equine.

The new stable of the station is 100 feet long and 50 feet wide, and in the rear of the building the government has just had built a long series of paddocks or yards where the horses are kept in pleasant weather.

Together with the breeding experiments each horse will be tried frequently for the promise of endurance qualities, and a broad running track is soon to be built opposite the station where daily trials will be made on the different fledglings produced at the station.

HOLD SERVICE FOR TOURISTS

Special Organ Recital at Tabernacle—Principles of Mormonism Discussed.

Special services for tourists and visitors were held in the tabernacle yesterday afternoon under the direction of the first presidency. There was a large attendance of strangers. A special musical program was given by J. J. McClellan, Elder R. Leo Bird was the only speaker. The subject of his address was "Mormonism" and in it he set forth the principles of the church and the attitude of the Mormons on all religious questions. He also told of the history of the Mormon people and what they believe to be the proper relation between the church and the state. The organ selections that were rendered follow:

Selection from "Cavalliera Rusticana" Andante D. Scagal
Andante Gullmatt
Communion in G Battiste
Old Melody Arranged by Performer
Prelude to "Parsifal" Wagner

HOT BISCUIT
Kind of Breakfast Passing Away.

The old-time hot biscuit played a prominent role in the breakfast bill of fare, along with fried potatoes, ham and eggs and coffee.

The whiter and lighter the biscuit the more pleased the cook, which was usually mother, who did the best she could, with her understanding of the matter.

But most people have learned in recent years that white flour lacks the nourishing elements of the entire wheat berry and many cases of imperfect nutrition follow its use.

In Grape-Nuts all the food elements of wheat and barley are used, and this largely accounts for results similar to those given in the following letter:

"I wish to tell of the health and strength-giving properties of Grape-Nuts. I am 45 years old and had for years been afflicted with indigestion and other stomach troubles, brought on by eating hot biscuits, white bread and improperly cooked cereals.

"Noticing an advertisement stating the benefits derived from eating Grape-Nuts, I was skeptical because I had tried many so-called 'health foods.' I thought it would be useless to try Grape-Nuts.

"But during the last six months I have been eating it, my stomach has been the best for years, my mind clear, my nerves quiet and a feeling of buoyancy pervades my whole being.

"This I attribute to Grape-Nuts as I have left off using medicines. I now firmly believe in the brain-clearing, nerve-steadying and muscle-building properties of Grape-Nuts.

"I am healthier than I have been for years, weigh 180 pounds, which is more than ever before."

"There's a reason." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in packages.

Epilepsy, Fits

Every part of the body has its nerves. It's the channel through which energy—nerve force is transmitted. If too much nerve force goes to a part, it is irritated, causing pain, congestion, spasms, fits, epilepsy, etc. If not enough it is enfeebled, and if none at all paralysis results. Dr. Miles' Nerve Tonic soothes the nerves, assists the nerve cells to generate nerve force, and in this way restores nervous energy.

"My eighteen-year-old daughter had fits for five years, as often as two and three a week. She began to take Dr. Miles' Nerve Tonic, and she has not had an attack for two months."
